The scene in the room where the woma lay dead was a pitiable one. Her two little girls who had been summoned from the Pestalozzi School ran in screamin, and wringing their hands. Weisler stood crying and declaring that it was an accident,

IMPORTANT LETTER BY SENATOR PALMER.

He'Demands the Free Coinage of Gold and Silver by the United States.

The following letter was printed in the Louisville Ky., News, on March 15, 1878. On March 19, 1878, it was printed under conspicuous headlines on the editorial page of the Illinois State Register, of which Senator Palmer was at that time

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 11, 1878.

Dear Sir: I have noticed the very kind references made to my name that have been so extensively copied from the Daily Evening News, and have appreciated your good opinion and good will, but, at the same time, have felt some curiosity to know what the News would consider to be "soundness" on the "money ques-

Your letter of to-day, for which I am obliged, relieves my curiosity on the point, but the requirement of an agreement with Senator Voorhees on "the money question," as a condition of soundness of faith, leaves me outside the pale of "the church," for, alas! I am an old-fashioned hard-money man-so obdurate and fixed in my opinions that I deny the power of Congress, in time of peace, to make Treasury notes a legal tender for private debts, and, if I could admit the power, I would oppose its exercise, for, in my judgment, no system of finance or money is as vicious or dangerous to the interests of the country as that which makes the amount of the currency depend upon the action of politicians who compose the two houses of Congress, or that gives a partisan Secretary of the Treasury the control over the matter. That Congress is an unsafe depository of the power to regulate the amount of the currency required by the business of the country is abundantly shown by the fact that what is known as the provision of the law "demonetizing silver" was passed by Congress, and voted for by many members of both Houses who now, ludicrously enough, attempt to evade the responsibility of their votes, insisting that, at the same time, they did not know that the bill contained the obnoxious provision. Conceding the honesty of all these apologizing gentlemen, as I cheerfully do, what can be said of their capacity or attention to business? Some of the members of Congress, who are now the most clamorous for what they style "remonetization of silver," are among the number of those who sorrowfully confess that "they knew not what they

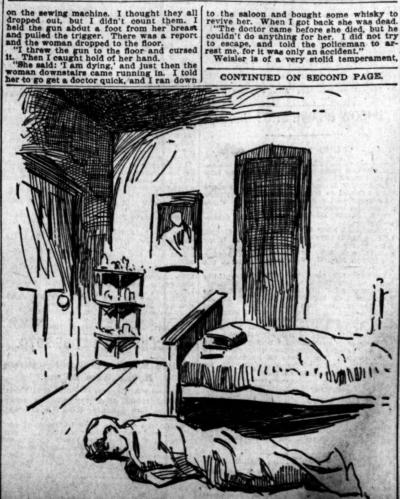

to regulate the currency, it will be remembered that prior to the session of Congress of 1874-5 the country, under the operation of existing financial legislation and natural laws, was steadily, but slowly and safely, moving in the direction of a return to the resumption of specie payment. The subject of resumption at that time was attracting the public attention, and was likely to embarrass the political parties in the canvass of 1876. To avert this for the Republican party it then, by its majority in both branches of Congress, pledged the Federal Treasury to resume specie payment on the first day of January, 1879. The measure was adopted by the Republican members of Congress in caucus, and voted for by all of them, including those that are now most clamorous for its repeal. They yielded everything to supposed party necessity; and so it will ever be, as long as the business and currency, and, in short, the well being of the people, is, treated as the stake to be played for at every election

I regret that so many Democrats are now disposed to concede to the Federal Government the enormous and all-absorbing power of issuing and regulating the amount of currency required by the country. To say nothing of the incapacity and unfitness of Congress for the important duty or of the danger of intrusting the power to control the amount and consequent value of the currency to the Secretary of the Treasury, demagogues will, under such a system, keep the country excited by means of the crude and impracticable theories and their appeals to the necessities or cupidity of the people, so regularity and certainty of business will be impossible, and honest labor be discouraged and made discredit-

My financial theories demand the free coinage of gold and silver by the United States, and the divorce of Congress and the Treasury from the control of the currency; and then, with an honest, economical and orderly administration of public affairs, the proper adjustment of the tariff upon strict revenue principles, a system of free banking upon security for the redemption of its circulation in coin and the restoration of local self-government to all the people of the States, we might expect a return of prosperity to the people.

I know I will not lose your friendship, which I have so long valued, but at the same time I am afraid you will not consider me convalescent on the money question. Respectfully,

JOHN M. PALMER.

He Wants to Save the Party Organization in New York. Which He Thinks in Danger.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 18.—Senated David B. Hill intends soon to announce that he will support Bryan and Sewall. This is authoritative. It is vouched for by no less a person than the Senator himself. He has written to friends here that after long conwritten to friends here that after long consideration of what his course as a Democrat ought to be, he has concluded that it is his duty to accept the decision of the National Convention and support its candidates.

First, he regards the control and directing of the Democratic party in New York State as being in great danger; he fears that if there is no one to hold the party in the path of true Democracy, which he believes alone will lead in time to victory, the party organization will fall into unworthy hands.

His other reason for supporting Bryan and Sewall is that he feels he has been forced to do so by the action of the National Dem-ocratic party at Indianapolis. The Senator wishes it distinctly to be understood that he is neither a silver moreometalist nor a gold monometallist, but a simon-pure bimetalist. It has been impossible to obtain a copy of any of these letters written by Senator Hill, but they have been seen by several prominent Democrate in Washington, who How and when the Senator will make his outlined, and, perhaps, as some think, lay most stress upon the fact that the Chi-ago Convention was the regular Democratic Senor Calvo of the legation of Costa Rica to-day said: "At the meeting at Amapola nothing new was accomplished except the ratification of a treaty approved by the Legislatures of the three republics. A similar treaty bringing into this union Costa Rica and Guatemaia is now the subject of greatest interest in Central America. Differences are being gradually adjusted, and it is the hope of the republics of Costa Rica and Guatemaia-that within a short time the flag of the old rederation may float over the five united republics of Central America. In this case the union republic will have one executive and will be represented diplomatically by a single legation chosen by the Diet."

MR. BRYAN AT GOLDSBORO.

The Chicago Platform Discussed and the Provision Regarding the Income Tax Defended.

GOLDSBORO, N. C., Sept. 18.-William where the private car he is traveling in was side-tracked until 9 o'clock this morning, at which hour he delivered an address from waiting since early morning. Mr. Bryan was escorted by the Goldsboro Rifles, and at the conclusion of the speaking left for Rocky Mount

Mr. Bryan spoke as follows: Ladies and Gentlemen-In this campaign we are fighting together instead of fighting we are fighting together instead of fighting among ourselves. I remember a few years ago a Populist in Congress said that down in South America there ran wild upon the prairies small burros, that in time of danger, when attacked by wild animals, would get together, putting their heads together and their feet on the outside so they form a circle with their heels and kick the enemy, but he said it was often the case, that the advocates of various reforms would put their heads on the outside and kick each other. (Laughter.) It has been too often the case that those who were fighting for reform because they could not agree entirely would interfere with each other and each attempt to offset the other's work.

too often the case that those who were fighting for reform because they could not agree entirely would interfere with each other and each attempt to offset the other's work.

In this campaign those who believe in the free coinage of silver have joined together regardless of differences of opinion upon other subjects. Democrais who believe in tariff reform and Republicans who believe in protection are able to get together when both recognize that the money question is superior to the tariff question. (Applause.) A Populist leader in this State well expressed the idea when he said that while he believed in Populist doctrines, yet he was willing to lay some of them aside until he could get others. For instance, he said, while he believed in the Government ewnership of railroads, fie did not want the Government to own the railroads as long as the Rothschilds owned the Government. (Great applause.) It is this willingness to lay aside minor differences in hours of danger that characterizes our people and gives the surest proof that they are able to rise to the requirements of any emergency.

Sometimes they accuse us of raising a sectional issue. One of the best evidences that the platform adopted at Chicago does not raise a sectional issue is found in the language of the platform adopted yesterday in New York. Let me read it to you. After unreservedly indorsing the platform and candidates of the Chicago convention, the New, York platform declares as its deliberate judgment that never in the history of the Democratic party has a platform been written which ambodies more completely the interests of the whole people as distinguished from those who seek legislation for private benefits than that given to the country by the National Democratic Convention of 1896. (Applause.)

There, within the shadow of Wall Street there, against the combined opposition of those once leading Democratic of New York who have left the Democracy of New York who have left the Democratic party and either gone over entirely to the Republicans or tinguished from those who seek legislation for private benefits than that given to the country by the National Democratic Convention of 1896. (Applause.)

There, within the shadow of Wall Street; there, against the combined opposition of those once leading Democratic party and either gone over entirely to the Republicans or stopped for a moment at the halfway house, the Democrate party and either gone over entirely to the Republicans or stopped for a moment at the halfway house, the Democrate on the Way for the declares the platform adopted at Chicago is the most Democrate platform ever put before the country by a Democratic pentry of the declares the platform adopted at Chicago is the most Democratic platform ever put before the country by a Democratic pentry of the state of Connecticat they have also indorsed our platform and likewise in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. In these and other States the Democracy is beginning to realise that the Chicago platform presents to the American these great issues around which the people must cluster if they are going to retain a government of, by and for the people.

The Chicago platform contained a plank expressing a desire for an innome tax, not saying that we are going to ignore the decision of the Supreme Court, but that an income tax should be retained and enforced of a statement of the decision of the Supreme Court, but that an income tax should be retained and enforced for a statement of the decision of the supreme Court, excertising the same right to reverse the decision recently given that the present court except the continuous proposed in overthrowing the precedents of a hundred years, should go back to the doctrine we used to have and declare that under the constitution it is possible to make those who have large innomes pay their share of the expense of the Government. In my judgment the income tax is just.

those who have large incomes pay their share of the expense of the Government. (Applause.)

In my judgment the income tax is just. It is not war upon property, but it is a demand that those who have property and who demand the protection of that property by Federal laws should be willing to support the government to which they look for that protection and not seek to use the instrumentalities of government for their own benefit and then throw the busden of supporting that government on the backs of those not able to bear it. (Applause.)

The three parties which have joined in my nomination agree that while there are other issues before the people aside from the money question, yet the money question rises paramount to them all and must be settled first. Other questions can wait; the money question can not. It has been forced upon public attention.

It has been brought before the people, and we have to decide whether we shall continue the present financial system wherein a few men have undertaken to run the Government or shall put the financial policy of the American people in the hands of the American people, to be framed by them and for them from now on. (Applease.)

hands of the American people, to be framed by them and for them from now on. (Applause.)

I never lose an opportunity to impress upon the people the importance of this question to every citizen. The Republican platform declares that we must maintain our present financial policy, not until we get tired of it, but until foreign nations get tired of it, but until foreign nations get tired of it, and consent for us to abandon it. To my mind no more infamous position was ever indersed by any party, and I cannot believe, as I look into the faces of tens of thousands of free Americans throughout all these States, that they are willing to trust the destinies of the people in the hands of foreigners, whom we can only reach by petition. (Applause.)

The Republican party had a great opportunity before it. Here was a Democratic Admanstration which was being opposed by a large part of the Democratic party, and it is a much more difficult thing for a man to oppose wrong in his own party than in his opponent's. Here were Democratic willing to array themselves no opposition to the policy of the President, not because they loved the President less, but because they love the people infinitely more. (Applause.)

When the Republicans assembled in St.

secause they loved the President less, but because they love the people infinitely nore. (Applause.)

When the Republicans assembled in St. outs if they had opposed the President's inancial policy and declared that they rould restore the money of the constitution and the Democratic party had indorsed the administration the Republican party rould have swept the Democratic party out of existence.

WILSON, N. C., Sept. 18.—Mr. Bryan had the following to say to-day about the ac-tion of the Buffalo Convention: "I am very much gratified to learn that the New York Convention indorsed the plat-form as well as the ticket."

In the first place he has concluded that the bankers are talking too much. On the ground that, as they are directly interested in the retention of the gold standard, their letters do more harm than good. He prefers to get testimonials from workingmen. It was, therefore, decided to request the bankers and millionaire business men to refrain from rushing into print and permit the Labor Bureau of the National Committee to prepare literature for distribution among the workingmen.

Hanna also found that votes were being driven from McKinley by his professional labor agitators, whom he has been sending into the workshops to talk for McKinley. For this reason speaking in workshops and factories will be stopped as soon as dates already made are filled. Very little of this work has been done this week, except in a few cases where the employers addressed their own workmen.

A RAPHAEL IN ST. LOUIS.

Mrs. Fred Macarty Believes She Has a Genuine "Nativity." Mrs. Fred Macarty of 2804 Gamble street found an article in the Post-Dispatch Thursday that aroused her keen personal interest. It referred to two alleged Raphaeis in New York City and reminded Mrs. Macarty that she had neglected to take the advice of her talented daughter who is winning fame and fortune on the operatic stage under the name of Dorothy Morton.

Miss Morton believes that her mother owns a "Nativity" by Raphael, and Mrs. Macarty is inclined to the same view.

The picture is at her home and may be inspected by any one who feels competent to pass an opinion on it.

"My great-great-grandfather, John White, came to this country on the Mayflower, in 1620," said Mrs. Macarty to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "Before he left Southampton his mother gave to him a roll of canvas and told him it was a valuable painting. He kept it and it passed through generation after generation still in the form of a roll till my wedding day. My mother had it then. She gave it to me, told me its history and said it was her wedding gift. I thought very little of it, but my husband, who is a painter, concluded to stretch and frame it. He did not attempt to restore it except by cleaning, but it was apparent to everyone who saw it that it was a masterpiece. My husband was confident that it was an original, but he would not trust his judgment sufficiently to say whose work it was. It has been pronounced a Correggio, but I don't think Correggio painted a "Nativity." That was Raphaei's work.

"When I was in New York some time ago my daughter insisted that I should go to see a "Raphael," which was hung in an art gallery for the purpose of comparing it with our helroom. I laughed at her and did not go. Now I am sorry. I got a letter yesterday from Dorothy telling me that another "Raphael" had been discovered in New York, and insisting that I do something to ascertain if ours is really an original. I shall be pleased to have it inspected by any one who is competent to form an opinion. I want to know exactly what it is. I have given some time to the study of art and know as muc Thursday that aroused her keen persons for the St. Louis combosses to be a first."

Mrs. Macarty's heirioom is about 28x35 inches, and is painted on very coarse canvas. It is manifestly very old, and a perfect light is required to bring out its merits. Twelve figures are visible in it, and there may be others so dimmed as not to be discernible. No one who has seen it doubts that it is an original, but whether it is a Raphael remains to be proved.

a well-dressed gentleman, accompanied by a flashily dressed woman. The man was Charles L. Taylor, who had married Mrs. Bauer's daughter some time ago. The third woman is unknown. The struggle was short and before Taylor exaped some blood was spilled.

Taylor came from New York, so Mrs. Bauer said, and made love to her daughter. He said he was wealthy and promised his father-in-law a fine position. The day after he was married he said he had to pay a note and could not get the money from New York in time. Mrs. Taylor gave him the money, He said he would return in a few minutes, but he never came back. Mrs. Taylor reported the matter to the police.

The hotel people say Taylor and the strange woman have, on numerous occasions, taken dinner at the hotel. Taylor's whereabouts are now unknown.

Edwin Boone, the hypnotist who put him to sleep and burled him, watched him last night and is by the side of the grave to-day. A number of doubting Thomases watched the grave all night last night, thinking Boone is playing a trick, but they failed to discover anything that would tend to indicate that the test is not genuine. Boone will awaken Douglass this evening. Thousands of people are going to the ball grounds to see the test.

When G. Philip Schaefer wants to express his opinion again of the St. Louis police he will do so in the privacy of his butcher shop at 2763 Allen avenua.

Officer McMillen, stationed at Rroadway and Olive street, saw a butcher's wagon coming north on Broadway at break-neck speed. He ran out and caught the horse by the bridle. He was dragged across the street, but stopped the horse. He warned Schaefer, who was driving, and let him so.

The butcher was pretty hot under the collar. He drove north a short distance and then back again. He started to drive in a circle at the intersection of Broadway and Olive street. When he got tired of blocking street car traffic he drove in near the curb and, standing on his wagon seat, told the crowd that had gathered what he thought of the police. Officer McMillen arrested him, and preferred a charge of fast driving against him.

THE NATION'S

THE BOND SYNDICATE'S DEAL-INGS WITH THE GOVERNMENT.

DENOUNCED BY MR. BRYAN.

SALISBURY, N. C., Sept. 18.-When the Bryan train reached Salisury Thursday the larger portion of the population appeared to be at the depot. Mr. Bryan was introduced by T. F. Klutz, one of those who seconded his nomination at Chicago. The nominee spoke eulogistically of the State he was in, and after referring to the fact that Andrew Jackson had been a law stu-dent in Salisbury, he said:

"The principles for which I stand before "The principles for which I stand before the people are the principles taught by Jackson when he was the idol, not of Democracy alone, but of the great common people, whom he at all times defended." He spoke of Jefferson's history and referred to the fact that Jackson and Jefferson had been the object of abusive epithets by the money-owning and changing class who proclaimed against everyone who did not "bow the knee to Baal and worship the golden calf."

class who proclaimed against everyone who did not "bow the knee to Baal and worship the golden calt."

Mr. Bryan toen spoke in a strain which he has used on other occasions. Mr. Bryan stated that he had noticed mothers and wives in the audience he siddressed, crowding about the platform, because they especially have felt the pressure of the gold standard. Living expenses have been reduced, while the debts and the taxes of the farmer have been held up. "If you could enter the homes of this nation and see how hope deferred has made the heart sick; if you could see parents, who, in the hopes of better days have planned for the higher education of their children in order that the children might begin the battle of life with greater advantages than their parents, but who have been compelled to keep the children at home in order to keep the wolf from the door, you would understand what the gold standard means. It means a lower order of civilization and if continued we will sink down where the few own all the wealth and the many are simply dependant tenants. Our opponents try to divide the toiling masses and set the laboring men in opposition to the farmer. I warn the laborers not to desert the farmers who have been the friends of labor in every struggle to better their condition. The very people who to-day are attempting to use the laboring men to defeat the farmers in their just cause are the same people who have opposed labor from the beginning of the world and will do so again the moment they have an opportunity." (Applause.)

At Lexington Mr. Byan spoke for three

At Lexington Mr. Bryan spoke for three minutes to a large crowd. At Greensboro five bands, a hundred equestrians and a great crowd greeted Mr. Bryan. The party dined there, and as soon as the meal was over Mr. Bryan spoke from an elaborately decorated stand near Washington street.

"The Democratic party," said Mr. Bryan, "has taken a position against the issue of bonds in time of peace and against the trafficking with syndicates which save the nation at so much per save from the extremities in which they themselves have placed the Government for the purpose of saving it again at a high price. Our opponents go upon the theory that these syndicates are able to bleed the people without the people knowing it, at least they think before the people find it out, the syndicates will have so much they won't care to make more."

Then Mr. Bryan went into a statement re-

"A great many bankers seem to think it their duty," he continued, "to support a gold standard, yet there is no reason why the Western and Southern bankers should be in favor of it. If our bankers in the West and South would think for themselves instead of taking opinions ready made from bankers in New York, who import them from London, we would have more free silver bankers."

In conclusion, Mr. Bryan said: "I am not acquainted with local matters in your State from London, we would have more free silver bankers."

In conclusion, Mr. Bryan said: "I am not acquainted with local matters in your State. You have differences among you over these issues. But I beg of you that you will let nothing prevent the consolidation of all those who believe in the money of the Constitution. (Applause.)

"I trust you will allow no personal differences or local matters to prevent you casting the solid and united vote not only for presidential electors, but for members of Congress, who will give a President a chance to act on a free coinage law." (Applause.)

After leaving Greensboro there were short stops at Burlington and Hillsboro, where Mr. Bryan spoke very briefly to the few hundred people gathered about the depots. At Durham, the next stop, Mr. Bryan spoke from a platform at the depot, and said, in part:

"The price of silver depends on supply the state of the state of the silver depends on supply the state of the silver depends on supply the state of the silver depends on supply the si

At Durham, the next stop, Mr. Bryan spoke from a platform at the depot, and said, in part:

"The price of silver depends on supply and demand, and no matter how much the production fails, if the supply does not increase as rapidly as the demand for it, the price of it will rise. They tell you that you cannot legislate two metals together, because of their varying productions, but they forget that when the Government stands ready to take all the gold for a certain price and all the silver at a certain price, and convert those metals into money at that price and ratio, it becomes immaterial whether you produce one ounce of one or a pound of the other, or reverse the proportions. There cannot be a change effected in the ratio until the Government fails in its ability to consume or rather to take and utilize all of both presented."

Raleigh, like the rest of the cities through

Raleigh, like the rest of the cities through which the candidate passed, drew from the surrounding country to augment the crowds to meet Mr. Bryan. Nash Park was filled with admirers of the nominee. They cheered him enthusiastically when he appeared on the platform. Mr. Bryan was introduced by H. W. Ayer, nominee for State Auditor on the Populist ticket. Mr. Bryan said:

silled with admirers of the nominee. They cheered him enthusiastically when he appeared on the platform. Mr. Bryan was introduced by H. W. Ayer, nominee for State Auditor on the Populist ticket. Mr. Bryan said:

"I am informed that the Republican National Committee has sent circulars to various religious papers and organizations, calling attention to a danger which they say threatens these religious organizations if we have the free coinage of silver. I want you to remember that the Republican party and the Republican speakers and the Republican party and the Republican speakers and the Republican party class against class. I want to say to you that the Republican party is doing more in this country to-day to array class against class. I want to say to you that the Republican party is adoing more in this country to-day to array class against class. I want to say to you that the Republican party is appealing to every class, or nearly every class, and attempting to array that class against others. They appeal to the laboring man and tell him that the gold standard gives him a higher priced dollar for his wages, without telling him that it also makes it impossible for a very large number of men who want to labor to get a chance to earn one of those high-priced dollars. (Applause.) Out in our State the Republican Committee of one of the counties appealed to the school teachers, trying to show them that a said standard was a good thing for them.

He stated that he had been looking up the law relative to the fliing of politions.

areby trying to get the school teachers ainst the rest of the people, and now they we appealed to the church organizations of church papers, and are trying to array em against the free coinage of silver. "Well, I could stand any appeal made by a dvocates of the gold standard to alest any class better than an appeal made the preachers and teachers of religion, there is one thing that the church people this country could afford to array themeters against it is the gold standard as it being advocated by the American people this time. (Applause.) And yet the Reblican party is appealing to church peode to take their place upon the side of the datandard.

publican party is appealing to church people to take their place upon the side of the sold standard.

"How things have changed in the last 1,800 years. Look at the people who head the gold standard propagands in the United States. Look at the bencholding class and the money changing class, the brokerage classes of New York, who are trying to fasten a gold standard upon the people of this country, not openly but secretly and when the meek and lowly Savior threw the cause they had made his house a den of in disguise, and then turn back 1,800 years when the meek and lowly Savior threw the cause they had made his house a den of the cause they had made his house a den of the cause they had made his house a den of the wrath to come. (Laughter and applause.) "And then think that these people come and the church papers to save them from the wrath to come. (Laughter and applause.) My friends, when certain ministers of the gospel denounce the great mass of the people who stand behind free coinage, when these ministers have denounced these advocates of free coinage and have taken their places upon the side of these great aggregations of wealth. I remind them that when the Savior was here it was the common people who heard him gladly—the very people whom these ministers today call anarchists and socialists. (Great applause.) My friends, when I find—there are not many of them, but they are quite conspicuous—when I find these men casting their lot upon that side and grhausting abusive language in their description of the great masses of the people of this country, I feel like saying to them that if they will take their chances with Dives I will risk my chances with Lazarus. (Great applause.) "The money question is a question which concerns every one of you, and you have a right to consider what has been done and want to support the present financial policy or not. When prices are falling and money is rising a man can better afford to look his money up in a vault and gain the rise than invest his money in property and risk a

Our of poponents go upon the theory that these syndicates are able to highed the people without the people knowing it, at least they think before the people ind it out, the syndicates will have so much they won't care to make more."

Then Mr. Bryan went into a statement regarding the bond contracts and continuing said;

Every lover of this country ought to feel humiliated that any administration, no matter what its name, should hire any syndicate of bankers, foreign or domestic, to protect a treasury which seventy militout ask. If our Treasury Department were run in the interest of all the people instead of being managed by Wall street financiers in their interest it would not be necessary to make these humiliating contracts. CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Sept. 18.-Gov. Altgeld addressed a mass convention of Democrats here yesterday. There were at least 3,000 persons present. He made a lengthy speech and was enthusiastically cheered. "The revenue system of Illinois," he said,

"is one of the most unjust that man can conceive of. Under it, vast combinations of conceive of. Under it, vast combinations of capital in large cities escape taxation entirely. There are money interests in Chicago that should pay $300,000 a year, and yee pay nothing. Interests that escape naturally watch legislation. Patriotic members tried to force legislation on the subject of revenue, but the wealthy corporations were to strong for them. At the special session, a promising attempt was made, but John Tanner came to Springfield, heading a concourse of politicians, and in twenty-four hours adjourned that Legislature, and nothing was done."

The Governor insisted that free silver coinage would increase the money in proportion to increase of population, and if the gold standard was maintained there would be a steady and continued fall in prices.

Treloar startled even his Republican hearers by the statement that silver had never been demonetized.

Treloar was followed by Maj. S. G. Brock in a talk of an hour and a half, in which he tried to convince the people that they were the rankest set of Anarchists because they favored free coinage of silver and the Chicago platform.

The speeches were supposed to be votegetters for Treloar, as he will need them in November, but on account of the free application of "thieves," "liars," "Anarchists," etc., to all who favored Mr. Bryan for President, even some of the Republicans turned away in disgust and left the hall before the meeting was half over.

Treloar was hissed and laughed at by his hearers for several gross misrepresentations and ignorant statements. He positively refuses to meet Champ Clark in joint debate.

He telegraphed from Philadelphia that he would be on hand to day. from Philadeipnia that he would be on hand to-day. When asked about the probabilities of the Presidential election in Maine, Mr. Manley said the Republican majority would be larger than it was last Monday, but there would be no new campaign. The people understood the issues clearly and he did not think that even any additional speeches would be made.

Mr. Manley said further that he intended to remain in New York at headquarters continually until the election.

He has accepted the nomi organization. He has accepted the nomination and now the battle of the factions will wage more furiously than before.

The Filley-Foerstel Committee which insists that it is the only regular organization in the Twelfth District, will fight to the last ditch before it permits the Election Commissioners to accept Maj. Pearce's nomination as the official action of the Twelfth District Republicans.

To prevent any fight in the courts the Harmony Committee will keep on trying to get the committees together, but there is little chance of harmonising the leaders, who are becoming more violend every day. Thursday night the Harmony Committee met at the Union Club, with Prof. C. M. Woodward in the chair. Chairman Foerstel of the Filley Committee, submitted two additional propositions. Chanute's Soaring Machine, Which Is Patterned After a Bird. CHICAGO, Sept. 18 .- The first free test of Octave Chanute's Albatross soaring machine, invented and constructed by William Paul, was made at Millers, Ind., last evening under unfavorable conditions.

While the machine was heavily loaded with ballast so as to prevent it from flying any great distance, and was anchored by four ropes each 200 feet long, the three points which the trial was to decide—first, as to whether it would leave the chute evenly; secondly, whether it would right itself in the air, and, third, whether when it commenced to descend it would move downward slowly, and alight easily, were all determined in a manner gratifying both to its inventor and owner. The flight was less than 100 feet, but the descent and final alighting on the sand were as graceful and even as those of the bird from which the machine was patterned.

The trial proved that the machine is perfectly safe, a proof which was the more acceptable inasmuch as it had been asserted that the machine was dangerous and that an attempt to fig it would be sure to result in the death of the operator. hine, invented and constructed by William

THE REVOLUTION IN THE EAST. The growth of silver sentiment in the Eastern States since the visit of Mr. Bryan has been very great: Six months ago Democratic party organization in New York, New Jersey and in the East generally was controlled almost wholly banks and railroad pools Through this influence the masses in the were made to appear antagonistic emocracy, and after the Chicago convention the plutocratic machine was used in a desperate attempt to disorganize the party.

That attempt has not succeeded. In New Jersey, which has been controlled by the Pennsylvania Railroad pool, the masses of the Democratic party have taken action that is almost without precedent in its sternness and suddenness. They have turned upon the plutocratic machine and crushed it. Every advocate of Wall Street policies who attempts to hold his place on a State, a from imports, adds 12 per cent to the county, or a precinct committee is being ruthlessly deposed, and when he threatsylvania, and now that the State Conventions have been held, the work will promptly begin in Connecticut and New as soon as the people can act through to hold a horse show in the Auditorium supporters of the English gold stan-dard, of an increasing national debt and sion which has arisen over this matter,

It is a year for squaring issues, and show business for the purpose of rethe present prospect is that they will couping its citizens for any losses, real or be squared, even in New York. If they alleged, sustained by them in the holding are, it is likely to take all of Hanna's of national conventions here. There car

BULLDOZING IN ILLINOIS.

There is less concealment about the intimidation of voters at the Niedringhaus plant in Granite City, Ill., than anywhere else. In fact, according to the reports furnished the Post-Dispatch, which has been investigating the matter, there is no concealment at all. The mer colitical sentiments. On the other hand, Foreman John Crossman, the boss buller for Niedringhaus, asserts the intention of the company to see that every ote in the works is polled for McKinley.

"There's a - of a lot of free said, "but among the hands," he said, "but harden the elecwe'll have it crushed out before the elec n. The men know how we want them Pressed for information as to how they sould keep the silver sentiment from preading among the men, Mr. Crossman and sententiously: "We keep a mighty close watch on people over here. Anybody Don Dickinson, from Atty.-Gen. Harmon that talks free silver will not talk for long and other exponents of the Administration of the Administration of the Administration of the Compount of the Comp

ing to it that every official ballot to which the precinct is entitled is in the booth (and not one outside of it) when the polls open. This point of danger should be guarded with extra vigilance and the Democrats of that county know what vigilance means. This vigilance must begin in the printing-house at Springfield and extend to every precinct in the State. Let no American citizen, in coming out of a booth, be compelled to show a blank ballot to any bulldozer as evidence that he voted the ballot the bulldozer gave him before he went in.
Fraud vitiates everything. And if Niedringhaus violates the law the Canvassing Board at Springfield should throw his township out of the count.

As suggested in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, nothing is more foolish than to mix politics with business. The Post-Dispatch is for free silver. No one can doubt that. Yet the Post-Dispatch would be glad to have every goldbug in St. Louis buy a copy every day (most of them do), and it welcomes the advertisement of the gold advocate and is just as anxious to give it a good position and to make it pay as if it came from the most rampant free silverite. So with the merchant. The dollar of the free silver man, or of his wife and daughter, is just as valuable as the dollar of the more of them in this neck of the woods. If politics is dragged into business there will be ruin all around.

MEXICO'S TREASURY SURPLUS.

The annual message of President Diaz to the Mexican Congress shows that our sister Republic is enjoying great prosperity. The exports continue to be great-er than the imports, leaving large balforeign countries, and this condition of foreign trade, which has now existed for three years, has led to a supply to the party. National Treasury.

For years after the close of the French

EXISTING GOLD STANDARD MUST During the fiscal year just closed she collected the largest revenue she ever collected, $50,000,000, and 9 per cent of that sum, or $4,500,000, constitutes the Treasury surplus for the year. The year closed June 30, and since then $1,500,000 more has been added to the surplus. At that rate of accumulation the surplus for the current year will be $9,000,000.

the United States for the last fiscal year would be about $27,000,000, but, instead of a surplus, we have a deficit. The deficit began the year the McKinley law became operative. Under the first year of that law public revenues declined $11,-000,000. Under the second year they declined $38,000,000, while under the last year of that law, they dropped to $297,-

Was the MoKinley law to blame? Partly, but not wholly. Along with the McKinley law came the Sherman law, discontinuing silver coinage, establishing the gold standard and paralyzing in dustry. While we have deficits, and is-sue bonds to keep up a needless Treasury Where is the business man who cannot understand this lesson?

But a more importunate question is how long is this to continue? When will the gentlemen of the Business Men's League cry "Enough?" When will they admit they have got their money back? How long will they insist upon using a building, erected by general public con tributions, to reimburse themselves? Another question is: If a horse show, why not a dog show? And if a dog show, why not a variety performance or the Corbett-Fitzsimmons prize fight? Did Mayor Walbridge get any guarantee?

THE BLOODY SHIRT AGAIN.

The Cleveland plan of campaign for the ection of McKinley was outlined when, in his Madison Square Garden speech Bourke Cochran, "Cleveland Democrat," attacked the Democratic party as in league with "ex-slave-holders." So now we hear from Secretary Morton, from around these diggings."

"Can't the men fool you through the Australian ballot?"

"The I guess not," said Mr. Crossman.

This effort to "fire the Northern heart"

One of the workingmen, in talking to the Post-Dispatch reporter, said:

"If the Democratic said: one of the workingmen, in talking to a Post-Dispatch reporter, said:

If the Democratic leaders could get in the and sive the men assurances that his panic proclamation against silver, his panic proclamation against silver, his contraction of the currency, his betrayal of tariff reform, his nullification of the trust law through the appointment of the attorney of the Whisky anagers of that county are active and our ageous. They are aware of whatver defect exists in the Illinois election as which might open the way to defeating the secrecy of the ballot. They means of forcing a continuance of the national debt as a means of forcing a continuance of the human hating.

In the secrecy of the ballot. They means of forcing a continuance of the national bank system, his alliance with English and Well Street bankers and his MARY KINNEAR.

derstand that, even in a township where Niedringhaus employes constitute a majority of the voting population, the opposition to Niedringhaus politics cannot be shut out of the Board of Judges. They will see to it that the law is not nullified by packing the booth with Niedringhaus tools either as judges or clerka.

They will exercise especial care in seeing to it that every official ballot to which the precinct is entitled is in the transmire of the Treasury to their control, his subsidies to Wall Street bond and gold rings in the form of unfair premiums granted through private and secret bond sales, his abuse of the Federal offices in his attempt to control the policy of the Democratic party and pack its national convention, his third-term movement, and the other like features of his administration which have made him more odious to the party he betrayed

He does not care to have these things discussed. So once more we have the cry of "rebels and traitors!" hurled at the South. Once more the bloody shirt is shaken in the face of Southern Demo crats, and because they choose to align themselves with Illinois, Indiana, lowa and Kansas rather than with Wall Street, of disloyalty to the Union.

They are not afraid of it. They know that the country knows that if there were a call from Washington for half a million men to defend the integrity of the Union, assailed from without or within, there are more than half a million Democrats in the South who would reach for their rifles with no thought of sending substitutes.

The South is loyal and the country is not afraid of any "new doctrine of seces-sion" from Southerners. The attempt to revive the old sectionalism is mere Wal Street imbecility. If it counts at all in the returns it will count in larger Democratic majorities from Illinois, from Iowa, from Kansas, from the Western exporting States whose leadership the South has accepted—whose cause of jus-tice and equal rights in the Union it is supporting as it supports its own in this campaign.

In New York also the Democratic party is shaking off Wall Street's clutches. The first plank of the platform adopted gold man, and there are a good many at Buffalo declares it to be the deliberate judgment of New York Democrats that "never in the history of the Democratic party has a platform been written which embodied more completely the interest of the whole people, as distinguished from those who seek legislation for pri vate benefit, than that given to the country by the National Democratic Convention of 1896." Let Cleveland, Whitney and Hill read that attentively, and

In 1880 Democrats and bolting Republicans carried Maine in September, but the Garfield tidal wave came in November. This year Republicans and bolting Democrats have carried the September election in Maine, and November will prove again that this country is too big for Maine bolters to run.

Try as they may, the Republicans can get no comfort out of Arkansas. The Democratic plurality this year is 55,553, as compared with 48,724 two years ago. The Democrats increased their vote 14,000 over 1894, while the Republicans increased their vote but 9,000.

The really striking thing about the Maine election on Monday is that the Democratic vote, which was 30,621 two years ago, increased to over 34,000 this year, in spite of all the obstacles in the way of Democratic success in a Northeastern State. Most of the "Democrats" who refuse to support Bryan are engaged in some monopolistic scheme or are connected some grabbing corporation that fears law and justice.

Perhaps it is Sherman's part in the rime of '73 that has kept him out of the Presidency. The course he has pursu must have offended even the Fates.

Democratic workers in Missouri should bear in mind that Wall Street is claiming the State. The silver majority should therefore, be made overwhelming.

Is McKinley in favor of sending Federal troops into Illinois whenever a stree car company with a bogus mail sack in charge calls on him for them?

STEPHENS FOR GOVERNOR

Why He and the State Ticket S Be Heartily Supported. enward march of the De

The enward march of the Democratic standard bearer, Wm. J. Bryan, is illuminated and cherred with the sure promise of victory in November. It has been a triumphal march from the beginning. The cause he represents is one that is too deeply seated in the hearts of the people to be lost.

While this era of promise is affling us with confidence and rejoicings, we cannot afford to relax our vigilance in regard to the State ticket. The cunning of the enemy is being exercised to its fullest exenemy is being the beauting to provide the state by 80,000 for McKinley.

There will be trading done by the Republicans if such a thing is possible. They will trade anythins to elect their candidate for Governor. Let Democrats remember this. They are not only fighting the Republicans of the State, but their allies, the remegades, who pose as martyrs to the cause of Jeffersonian Democracy under the guise of National Democracy under the guise of National Democracy under the grand anthems of ovictory are being shouted on the 4th of next November.

Be vigilant and aggressive. Watch the enemy on the outside and their willing tools inside the ranks of Democracy. Here are some reasons why Lon V. Stephens should be elected Governor of Missouri:

from the Peoria (Ill.) Herald. Gov. Stone held his audience for two solid hours, and at times commanded the most enthusiastic applause. ttractions to insure plenty of business and a big crowd of visitors.

Justice Must Be Done. From the Washington Post. Mr. Bryan is determined that the crimina's of '73 shall not secure a change of venue to the tariff question When Bryan Goes Down East.

(Tune: "When Sherman Marched Down t the Sea.")
Written for the Post-Dispatch.
Oh! hear how the people are shouting,
At morning, at noon and at night;
Oh! see how the voters are gath ring
To hear the bold tribune of Right.
The farmers get up in the nighttime,
And harness a sleepy did beast,
To get to the train in a hurry,
For Bryan is going down East.

The goldburs are flying to cover,
And trying to figure it out,
How in the name of creation

And they see that a message is written,
The same as at Beishazzar's feast.
And with a great fear they are smitten
For Bryan is going down East.

The people shead are all waiting To greet the bold knight of the West; And even the goldbugs are listening—McKinley himself is impressed. The newspapers go into spasms. And Hanna is frothing like yeast; But the great common people are cheering the great going down East.

Let the slices fall on the salad dish and season them in layers with salt, pepper, onion, parsley and lemon juice or good cider vinegar. Over this pour salad dressing. Continue till all the potatoes are used, cover the top with the dressing and ornament with sprigs of parsley. Set in a cool place till supper time.

Starch for the Shirt Waist.

Black and dark-colored lawn and cambric shirt waists and dresses are best stiffened with gum arabic. If, however, starch is used it should be made very dark with indigo blue and the garment turned wrong side out when put into the starch. That will prevent the starch from showing plainly on the right side when the garment is ironed.

Air the Closets.

Closets should be aired the same as bedrooms, and the coming architect, if a woman, will see to it that closets in which clothes are hung are provided with a window, be it ever so small, going out to the yard. This window will be so protected that in nearly all weathers it may remain open and supply the closet with fresh air and light.

It runs:

I found Warden Pace had under his care about 2,200 prisoners and I was impressed with their "cheerful" countenances, which showed clearly the kind treatment received from those in charge. The buildings were well-arranged, high cellings, well-ventilated, and well lighted, and all scrupulously neat. The food was wholesome and abundant. From my visits to many similar institutions in various States, I found this to be as well-managed, if not better, than the best of them.

Dr. E. C. Chase. WHY GOLD IS COMING HERE.

The Trade Balance Largely in Favor of

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 18,-When asked to explain why so much gold is coming to the United States. Assistant Comping to the United States. The said it was simply because the balance of trade is now in our favor, and that this condition would obtain until the cotton crop was moved, if not longer. Mr. Coffin went on moved, if not longer. Mr. Coffin went on to say:

"The trade balance in favor of this country in August amounted to more than $15,000,000. In addition to this we have exported a large amount of silver buillon, which must be paid for in gold, and in the same time the sale of American securities by foreign holders has been trifling, while the tide of American tourists is setting toward the United States, and with their return the spending of tourists money abroad comes to an end. It is not surprising, therefore, that upwards of $24,000,000 in gold has already been imported, and that more than $8,000,000 more is now on the way here or under engagement for importation. Notwithstanding the Bank of England's advance in the rate of its discount, nearly $1,200,000 gold was taken from the bank Thursday for export to the United States.

"The demand for money in New York now is very great, and one of the great needs of it is to move the cotton crop of the South, which is, at a rough estimate, worth $300,000,000. In order to move this crop the traders in the interfor towns must have ready money, and New York banks have to import gold to meet the demand.
The reason why the premium put by the Bank of England on gold does not stop the exportation of the yellow metal from that country is that money there is very cheap,

Twenty-five Desperate Rounds. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 18.-It took nds of desperate, bare-knuckle slugging early yesterday morning to settle a grudge that has existed for a long time between Jimmy Britt, once champion bantamweight of the coast, and Frank Lawler, another weil-known athlete, whose doings in the fistic arena have made him quite prominent. Britt and Lawler were formerly friends, but had a failing out over a member of the fair sex, and decided to settle the controversy in the bare-knuckle finish fight.
Both being members of a well-known athletic club in the Mission, that has turned out a great many good boxers, it was decided to hold the match there. The location of the ring was kept secret until the last minute, and, while the fighters were in training, no one, except a favored few, knew where the mill was to take place.
Early yesterday morning the few selected a well-known sporting man as referee, and the combatants stripped and went the work.
The first three rounds consisted of hot give and take work, with the result that both men showed signs of distress when the tween Jimmy Britt, once champion bantam-and take work, with the result that both men showed signs of distress when the fourth was called. From the fifth to twelfth, however, the fighting was fast, with honors about sven. They took things easy until the twentieth round, when another fierce round resulted. Britt was nearly put out by a right-hand swing landing on his neck. He recovered in the next round, and from that to the twenty-eighth round he had a shade the best of the argument, Lawler being tired. As there seemed to be little chance of a finish, and both men were terribly punished, the referee called the match a draw.

Philadelphia Brigade Monument.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Sept. 118.—A monument to the dead of the old Philadelphia Brigade was unveiled with appropriate ceremonies yesterday afternoon. The ceremonies were attended by the Governors of Pennsylvania and Maryland and many old soldiers on both sides of the war.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 18.—Acting Gov. Worthington yesterday issued a pardon to Stephen Northcutt, who, just after the close of the war, killed one Steyens, who had debauched his wife while he was away in the army. Northcutt, after a trial which resulted in his conviction, left the State. The Acting-Governor considered this sufficient punishment.

Silver Coinage for August.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 18.—The Mint Bureau's statement shows that the silver coinage during the month of August aggregated $2,650,000. This yielded to the Government a profit or seignlorage of $22,027.03, which represents the difference between the cost of silver when purchased and the coinage value.

Notwithstanding Mr. Freedman's vigorous denial there is something in the story that Frederick Eaton of the Diamond Match Company is involved in a contemplated purchase of the New York club. The syndicate was formed over two months ago and the plans were knocked away a bit by the unexpected good showing of the Giants under "Scrappy Bill" Joyce.

He will conduct the business there this winter. Joe is a licensed embalmer and holds several diplomas from the State Board of Embalming. It is a grewsome kind of business for a ball player to engage in, but Quinn seems to like it better than he does base ball. E BIGGEST HIT IN YEARS.
IN the Polite Comic Play.

Mr. John F. Connell, a Trask Fish Co., 510 N. Second St., St. Louis, Mo., in an interview August 8th, 1895, related as follows: "Yes, I have used Ripans Tabules and am very much pleased with the results. I have had a lot of trouble with my stomach in my life, and have taken a little of everything for relief. As I have never been what could be considered a drinking man, I don't think that could be the cause of it, so I guess my stomach was just naturally weak. However, my physician said in consequence of this weakness I couldn't assimilate my food properly, and had developed, in addition to this weakness, a form of dyspepsia, not very violent, but still enough to cause me very unpleasant sensations at times. He prescribed for me, but it didn't do much good. I tried numerous other things with about the same sort of success. At last I tried Ripans Tabules, which I had seen advergood deal, and so far they have given entire satisfaction."

ITS OTHER NAME IS METROPOLI-TAN BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION. POLICIES FOR POOR PEOPLE

Horn Is President, His Wife Vice-President, His Son Secretary and His Son-in-Law a Director.

The Metropolitan Industrial Benevolent oration, according to the statements of its president, J. B. Horn, and the former ecretary, John I. Debelach. It is one of a half dozen similar concerns in St. Louis which insures poor working people, many of them women, for small weekly pay

J. B. Horn was charged Thursday with issuing policies signed by John I. Debelach as secretary after Debelach had retired last June from the association. Horn denies the charge, and what both he and Debelach have to say is interesting.

The association comes in that class described by State Superintendent of Insur-ance James R. Waddill, in his last annual report, as being outside the control of the State. It was organized as a fraternal bechapter 89, of the revised statutes of the State, a section that Mr. Waddill says should be changed by the next Legislature.

The Metropolitan Industrial Benevolen

The Metropolitan Industrial Benevolent Association consists really of J. B. Horn and his wife, and they have an office on the fourth floor of the Times. Building. In its so-called quarterly report, which is issued in circular form and is not dated, the association gives a list of sick and death benefits "paid during the past three months" which aggregate less than $700.

The poorest class of people are solicited to insure in this association, as well as in other similar concerns. Under its regulations many poor workingwomen pay small weekly amounts in order to insure their children or provide a small amount of money for them when they have attained the age of 21.

By beginning to pay 5 cents a week for a child when it is 2 years old the poor mother is promised death insurance ranging from $17 to $15, or the payment of $50 to the child should it live to become 21 years of age. Children under I year of age can be insured for a $15 policy, by the payment of 5 cents' premium weekly, but in order for the policy to be paid the child must die three months after the certificate is issued and before it becomes a year old.

For 10 cents weekly children of various ages are "insured" for amounts as follows: Aged 14, $94; aged 15, $92; aged 16, $90, etc. Adults can be insured by the same kind of payments for various amounts, ranging from $20 to $78, according to age. Accident and sick benefits of from $2 to $10 are promised, according to the amount of weekly premium, ranging from 10 to 50 cents.

"Mr. Horn said the Board of Directors would discuss that and other matters. He and his wife met with great seriousness and told me to keep the minutes of the meeting. They finally voted an assessment of about 200 on each of us and then I rebelled and asked to withdraw. I managed to get my lots back, but none of the money. I had worked from November, 1896, to June 27, 1896, without compensation.

"The so-called Board of Directors met every Monday and always reported a deficit. Mrs. Horn kept account of the finances. I was very simple then and it now appears real laughable."

Superintendent of Insurance Waddill said Thursday afternoon: "I receive complaints every day touching associations of this class. Only a few days ago an old colored woman told me a pitiable story of how she had gone without food at times to keep up the weekly payments on her husband's insurance and then had received nothing upon his death. Not one of these associations is under my supervision. They take advantage of the benevolent society clause of the law. Many of them know nothing of the meaning of benevolence. Their purposes are as vicious as those of a pirate, they have no assets or legal responsibility and they take advantage of their cruel practices.

"A few people they pay, in order to attract more victims. They insure poor working people for a few cents each a week, at a rate that shows they could not possibly exist long and pay all their obligations."

school labors. Colgate University is in Hamilton and Mr. Gurney intends to take a Bibbe course.

Mr. William Randolph, Superintendent of the State Sunday School Association, says that Mr. Gurney did not leave because he wanted to abandon Sunday-school work or because the local union was in a sickly condition. Mr. Randolph insisted that on the contrary Mr. Gurney, who is chock full of zeal, was anxious to fit himself for better work and hence had gone to school for awhile. While Mr. Gurney has had a consuming desire to improve himself he might not have hastened to gratify his longing if he could have seen a way to steer the union out of its difficulties. But Mr. Gurney could not penetrate the financial fog. Right before his eyes was the mazy film of his own unpaid salary and a little further on was the cloud of small debts incurred by the Sunday-school jubilee in the Auditorium a few weeks ago.

In all, financial mists of the size of $1,000 obscured Secretary Gurney's vision and led him to the conclusion that these were hard times for successful navigating.

The Sunday School Union has been a feature of church work in St. Louis for several years, and its officers will not entertain the notion that it may disrupt, as had been reported. They admit that it has been in straits for over a year, but they expect great things of Saturday's meeting. The principal business will be preparation for the annual collection.

Once a year the Sunday schools of the city contribute toward the support of the Union. That collection will be made on the first Sunday in October, and the officers of the Union have perfect confidence in the result.

A SOLDIER BOY.

HARRY THOMAS TAKEN FROM HIS BRIDE TO A PRISON CELL.

DESERTED FROM THE ARMY.

His Rival Betrayed Him to the Federal Authorities and Now He Is at Jefferson Barracks.

Harry Thomas, the young recruit who recently deserted the cavalry post at Jeffer-son Barracks, to enlist in Cupid's army, returned to St. Louis a military prison Thursday morning.

He was taken to the barracks and is now languishing in the bastile, thinking of the trouble ahead of him, and the joy he left behind in Springfield, III.

Private Thomas has a checkered experience during his brief career as a follower of the grim visaged war business. He has wooed and lost and won a bride He has wooed and lost and won a bride. He had scarcely won her when he lost her again, and was transported from a bridal bower to a "demned moist" prison cell. It is the old story of two small hearts stacking up against a parental four of a kind, and losing out on the draw.

Harry Thomas and Mabel Swishorm lived at Lincoln, Ill. They were of the bluest blood and richest families in that little city. They loved warmly, but were opposed by father and mother on both sides of the fence. Their troubles were not a few. Another suitor put in an appearance, who was accepted by the parents, but not by the was accepted by the parents, but lovers.

Both lovers pressed their claims, but Harry got the "dead face" from Mabel's parents and the other fellow was given all the best of the goins.

Mabel and Harry met at "watchnight" services and carefully chosen trysting places and vowed eternal constancy while the other fellow was jollying papa and mamma.

the other fellow was jollying papa and mamma.

A consultation of war was held by the lovers, and it was decided that Harry should enlist in the United States regular army. He enlisted at Springfield one year ago, and was assigned to the 2d Cavairy, U.S. A., stationed at Ft. Wingate, New Mexico. Letters were exchanged, and things went swimmingly with the lovers. The rival pressed his claim now that Harry was gone, and made progress with the old folk.

The fair Mabel dreamed of the time when Harry would come to her, booted and spurred, with chevrons on his sleeves and freekles on his face, a full-fledged army officer.

Last winter there was a fire at Fort Wingate. News came to the little town of Lincoln that private Thomas had proved a hero during the conflagration. He was severely burned.

during the conflagration. He was severely burned.

On his bed of pain he read tender missives from his far away sweetheart. She told him that she loved him more than ever and finited that she could be happy with him, even without "the shoulder straps."

This set Harry to thinking. He was tired of soldering, anyway, and so he deserted and sped to the wide open arms of his love. He went back to Lincoln and found things about as he had left them. The young couple left Lincoln one night and went to Springfield. From there they journeyed to Taylorville, where a license was speedily secured and on the 8th of this month they were wed. Returning to Lincoln they were forgiven and "love's young dream" was being realized.

The "dummed" rival was husy very husy.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Coal and coal rates are slated for investigation by the Interstate Commerce Commission, which met yesterday in the Monadnock Building. Pres-ident Daniel D. Healy of the County Board,

At the meeting of the Populist and Democratic sub-committee Thursday at the Planters' Hotel, it was unanimously agreed that there should be fusion on the State electoral ticket.

The Democrats were represented by Chairman Cook and Committeeman Zeibig. The Populists were represented by Chairman Cook and Committeeman Zeibig. The Populists were represented by Chairman Rozelle and Ablel Leonard.

The conference lasted for two hours, the only definite conclusion reached being that the Democrats should have thirteen and the Populists four of the seventeen presidential electors. No agreement was reached as to the districts in which Populists should succeed Democrats.

It is understood that Ablel Leonard of Saline, Populist elector at large, will succeed John A. Lee, who resigned as Democratic elector at large.

The woman's matrimonial career is remarkable. She married John Scharde in Germany when she was 19 years old and moved to St. Louis with him. She got a divorce on the ground that he was a drunkard and on Jan. 13, 1886, she married Zimmermann. In 1894 they quarreled and separated and he sued for divorce. She says her attorney, Burnett, told her it had been fixed and she understood him to mean a divorce had been granted. She then, under the name of Elise Eichelberger, got a license to marry Glesonn, but before the ceremony was performed she learned that Zimmermann had not obtained a divorce. She declares that Glesonn told her that Zimmermann could never have her and that they should be married, in spite of the hitch in the divorce proceedings. "CHICAGO, Sept. 16, 1896. "My Dear Babcock: Your favor asking what astrology says about the presidential election is duly received. Before replying, I must make a brief explanation.

"I predicted correctly and published in advance the results of the presidential elections of 1876, '80, '84, '88 and '94. In 1892, June 13. I published the horoscope of Harrison's nomination in the Chicago Record, and said every testimony was against his election. June 27, in the same paper, I published the delineation of the horoscope of Cleveland's nomination, and said every testimony was in favor of his election. These predictions were copied extensively.

"Having known you for many years as a zealous Republican, I suppose you are for McKinley, and it delights my soul to be able to tell you that, according to astrology, the Ohio man is 'not in it.' Moreover, independently of the joy I experience in thus wounding your feelings, I am glad that Bryan will be elected, not so much out of spite to his enemies as a love for the prosperity and perpetuity of our government.

"Aristocracy of wealth has destroyed." "I predicted correctly and published in prosperity and perpetuity of our government.

"Aristocracy of wealth has destroyed many a republic in the past, and aiready the trusts and monopolies are battering down the bulwarks of American freedom.

"My present housekeeper, a widow of 50, in debt and sick, was delighted to accept my proposition when I told her that because I was old and too poor to pay a housekeeper, I could only give her a home if she would do my work. She could get no employment and became sadly in need of clothes. At last she came home one day, her face all smiles. She had found work in a sweatshop. For five days she operated a sewing machine, working by the piece, and paying 10 cents a day car fare. She is a good seamstress. Her wages amounted to $5 cents for those five days. Deducting car fare, she had $5 cents, or 7 cents a day.

cents a day car fare. She is a good seamstress. Her wages amounted to 85 cents for those five days. Deducting car fare, she had 85 cents, or 7 cents a day.

"She had arisen at 5 a. m. and worked until 9 p. m. to do my housework and make a day in the sweat shop. I gave her the money for her car fare, and forebade her going back to the place.

"At the end of a week she found another place. The first day she earned 35 cents, or 25 cents clear, more than three times what she made in the sweat shop.

"At the sweat shop scores of women had been turned away who were anxious to make 7 cents a day. They were wives whose husbands were out of work and they would have been glad to do their own work in the night that they might earn this mere pittance by day. This is an illustration of the conditions of millions of the 52 per cent of our people who constitute the producing class and receive and possess 5 per cent of the wealth of the country."

"Such is the result of the gold standard.
"My housekeeper now gets 10 cents a dozen for making women's skirts. Before silver was demonetized 10 cents a skirt was a low price. What is the matter now. It is worth just as much to make a skirt as it ever was. But gold is worth more. A little gold will now buy a great deal of laborwill buy the souls of men and women. Are you not ashamed of yourself, my dear friend, to indores such wornes?

"Perhaps you think overproduction is responsible. Will the women who wear patched garments tell you that they wear no better because of overproduction? Will the hungry man tell you he is starving because wheat is so plentiful and cheap that farmers are becoming paupers?

"Maybe it would be dishonorable, in your opinion, and unpatriotic to pay our bonds in a depreciated currency.

"The bonds were bought with a depreciated currency at its face value. For two months' service they received 325 worth

ELECTION UNDER THE NEW LAW

IT IS A COMPLICATED AND EX PENSIVE AFFAIR.

FRAUD ALMOST IMPOSSIBLE.

Expense of the Election in St. Louis Will Be Way Up in the Thousands.

An election under the new State law is a big thing. The Supply Department of the city has just let, through its able purchas-ing agent, Charles Blow, a contract for 435 steel ballot boxes, to cost $826.50. A few days ago another purchase was made of 100 canvas booths and 100 patent steel booths. The canvas ones cost $350 and the steel There is also a contract out for 45) folding bables, 7 by 31/2 feet, to cost $2.70 ach or $1.265 for the lot.

The old hold-over stalls are made of pine plank; most of them have been damaged and are not fit for use. A hundred or two of them are still good, however. There will be three of four of these stalls in each polling place, and as there will be 426 polling place, and as there will be 426 polling place, the work of getting out the stalls and delivering them to the polls will be a contract in itself.

The new ballot boxes are nice to look at. They are made of japanned steel and are about two feet long, ten inches high and ten inches wide. They have a patent brass slot, with a spring clip to it that shuts and locks when the box is not in use. The box locks on top with a small flat Yale key.

When this box is delivered to the polling place it will contain the poll books, all the stationery necessary for the judges and clerks and the ballots. When it is returned to the Commissioner on the night of election day it will contain only the poll book and the tally sheets, and over the slot and lock will be pasted a strip of paper on which all the judges have signed their names. This strip will be earranged that it will be impossible to open the box without breaking the paper and destroying the signature.

LETTER FROM A PRESIDENT. It Was From James Buchanan to Maj. Charles G. Conter.

In sorting a lot of old papers Thursday, Maj. Charles G. Gonter, a veteran poli-tician, found a letter written to him fortyour years ago by James Buchanan, who tician, found a letter written to him fortyfour years ago by James Buchanan, who was elevated to the Presidency just four years later. The letter, which is well preserved, reads as follows:

WHEATLAND (near Lancaster), Dec. 7, '52.
My Dear Sir—Your favor of the 16th of October arrived here on the crisis of the Presidential contest, whilst I was in a distant part of the State. I did not return home until a day or two before the election.
I felt confident that the ballot boxes would furnish you the specdiest and more satisfactory answer. In this I was not mistaken, and your native State has proved true to the good old cause of Democracy. I now write, therefore, merely to thank you for the kind sentiments which your letter contains towards myself personally, and to assure you they are cordially reciprocated.
We have no news. Speculation is busy in forming a Cabinet for Gen. Pierce, but so far as I know, he has wisely kept his own counsel. I have entire confidence that he will surround himself by honest and capable advisers; this being the case, it matters but little to the country upon what individuals the Cabinet mantle may fall. We shall all know in due time. With sentiments of sincers regards, I remain, your friend,
Maj. Gonter, Esq.
Maj. Gonter was a great admirer of Mr.
Buchanan, and his first political efforts wore devoted to the advancement of the claims and interest of the Pennsylvania statesman. He was reared and completed his printing profession in Lancaster, Pa., on the Intelligencer, the home organ of the ex-President. He and the late Col. John W.
Forney worked at the case together, and he kept up a correspondence with these distinguished Pennsylvanians after he took up his residence in the then far West.
Buchanan, when elected in 1856, did not forget his young friend in the West, and not long after his inauguration addressed him a letter offering him any Federal office in St. Louis he might select. Strange to relate, the Major declined with thanks.

Napoleon at Exposition.

Napoleon at Exposition.

The well-known bleycle firm of Stevenson, Wicke & Co., 206 North Fourth street, this city, have the prettiest and most attractive display of "Napoleon," "Josephine" and "Flying Dutchman" Bicycles ever shown at the St. Louis Exposition. Their place is beautifully decorated and illuminated, surpassing anything of its kind at the Exposition. They have a handsome line of high-class wheels, among which is a gold and silver "Napoleon" Bicycle that is handsomely decorated with gold and silver fligree. The handle-bars, hubs, sprockets, peda's, cranks and spokes are all of gold, while the entire frame and chain is silver. The grips are of ivory. This wheel is a perfect gem of art, and must be seen to be fully appreciated. The gold and silver decorations on this wheel are very artistically executed by S. D. Childs & Co., Chicago.

Stevenson, Wicke & Co. are all well-known young men of St. Louis and certainly are deserving of much success in the bleycle business.

The early part of last Saturday evening.

deserving of much success in the bicycle business.

The early part of last Saturday evening, this firm distributed to Exposition visitors, Napoñeon souvenir badges, which were greatly in evidence throughout the entire Ex., while the Music Hall, during the concert, resembled a "Napoleon" army en cert, resembled a "Napoleon" army en masse. At 9 p. m. to every one wearing these Napoleon badges was presented a button-hole bouquet, distributed from an exquisitely handsome floral bicycle of roses and cut flowers, provided for this especial occasion. There was an immense crowd present, and it being Wheelmen's Night, the innovation was a most brilliant success. Over 5,000 bouquets were disposed of to as many people.

Stevenson, Wicke & Co. show genuine enterprise and everybody present conceded the "Napoleon" Bicycle is in good company and that the firm is untiring in their efforts to "please the rider."

At the close of the evening, the entire Napoleon Cycling Club appeared and gave three rousing cheers for the "Napoleon" and its St. Louis agents.

School Board Director Kept Away From the Meeting by a "Jag" With a Contractor.

Building Contractor Gus A. Hansen of 4107 Missouri avenue is a friend of School Director H. C. Koenig. He is now at work at the Shepard School, which is one of those under the supervision of Mr. Koenig. School Director Nicholas Berg was opposed to the candidacy of William H. Koenig, nephew of Director Koenig, for the position of Auditor of the School Board. Young Koenig was elected Auditor at the neeting of the board Sept. 8. I remember that some one poured ice water on my head and somebody else tried to take $60 out of my trousers pocket. That aroused me and I yelled 'Watch.'

"Then somebody picked me up and put me in the buggy. Berg was already in it. He took the reins and started off. I was half asleep after that. When we stopped we were at Fenton, in St. Louis County. Berg had stopped in front of another saloon. We had four whiskies there. Berg ordered them, and then asked me to pay for them, as he had little money. I paid for them. to them before Mrs. Sanders grew tired of the quiet life she was leading.

Then she sought onjoyment and excitement elsewhere. She neglected her home and children and began to frequent immoral resorts. Sanders remonstrated with her but of no avail.

Finally, in January of 1895, he told her he could stand it no longer. She was glad of an excuse to leave him. The father put the children out in various institutions and private homes and left the city. Mrs. Sanders went to Litchfield, Ill., and remained for several months, an immate in an immoral resort.

Then about six months ago she went to Springfield, Ill., where she continued her wayward career. Here it was that she brought sorrow and desolation to another home.

At the time the Sanders woman located in known. Mrs. Van Dyke was left with her ten children to support and was in drest-tute circumstances.

About the same time Charles Sanders, who had been deserted, received a letter from his wife saying she had come to St. Louis and taken possession of their son Charley, who had been living with Mrs. Hough at Sile Gravois avenue. Banders investigated and found out that what the woman had said was true.

The letter stated that she had left with the boy for another city. It would be no use for him to seek her, because he would never find her. Sanders went to Litchfield and followed her to Springfield. Here he learned of her bracking up the Van Dyke family.

for him to seek her, occause he would never find her. Sanders went to Litchfield and followed her to Springfield. Here he learned of her breaking up the Van Dyke family. He returned to this city and found that Van Dyke had changed his name to Van Cleve and had secured a position as teamster for the Knapp-Stout Lumbor Co., and was living with the Sanders woman as man and wife at 2712 North Ninth street.

Sanders wanted a warrant against his wife for kidnapping, but as he had no witness and would not be allowed to testify against his wife, the warrant was refused. Acting Assistant Attorney Reber told him, however, if Van Dyke and Mrs. Sanders were living together as man and wife they could be prosecuted.

Mrs. Reber wrote a note to Capt. Phillips, of the Fourth Police District, asking him to investigate, and if the report was correct to arrest them, and a warrant would be issued at once.

Sanders is now stopping at 2716 Lemp avenue, and says he will remain in the city to prosecute his faithiess wife. Mrs. Van Dyke will also come from Springfield, if necessary, to tell what she knows about the case.

CANTON (ILL.) CONVERTS. Number of Free Silver Republicans

Was Not Overestimated. On Sept. 10 the Post-Dispatch published a dispatch from Canton, Ill., to the effect that a free silver Republican Club, with 218 that a free silver Republican Club, with all members, had been organized, and that Fulton County contained from 500 to 700 free silver Republicans, most of them being prominent citisens. As usual this dispatch was called in question, it being the policy of the goldbugs and Wall Street Republicans to premptly challenge all converts to free silver.

The following letter from Mr. Butter Fouts, President of the Canton Free Silver Republican Club, published by permission, shows that the Post-Dispatch was within the mark in stating that the woods in that part of Illinois were full of, free silver Republicans:

MR. BERRY'S BOND IS GILT-EDGED

SCHOOL BOARD INVESTIGATION CAN GO RIGHT ON.

THE PEOPLE WANT TO KNOW.

If There Is Corruption in the Board It Will Be Exposed This Time.

The $5,000 bond required of A. L. Berry in his suit to enjoin the St. Louis Board from executing the Peck-Williamson heating contract, was filed in Judge Russell's court at

The wide interest taken in the effort to purify the School Board and, if necessary, abolish it, is shown by the names attached

Several gentlemen in signing it declared among the gentlemen came roward and requested the privilege of affixing their names.

Those interested in the School Board reform movement accept the readiness of citizens to sign the bond as an indication that they and the Civic Federation will not lack support in their efforts.

Members of the School Board have all along insisted that the suit to prevent the Peck-Williamson job was the work of disgruntled contractors. Attorney I. C. Terry, representing the Board, claimed in open court that plaintiff A. L. Berry was but a figurehead for the contractors, although Mr. Berry is well-known as Treasurer of the Civic Federation.

The character of the bond filed in the case is pointed to by those behind the suit as a refutation of this charge.

Owing to the necessity for the appearance in court at 3 o'clock of the lawyers with the bond, the taking of depositions, which was to have been resumed at that hour in the office of Lawyers Alderson & McEntire, was necessarily postponed.

It is now stated that Director H. C. Koenig, who has been clamoring for an opportunity to testify, will shortly be gratified in his desire. Koenig, when seen by a Post-Dispatch reporter, was still clamorous for the chance to give his deposition.

"I am only too willing to testify," said he. "When I do I'll tell why some of these heating contractors weren't given School Board contractors."

THEODORE DANERI'S SPREE.

The Tough Young Man Was Touched for All His Diamonds and Money.

Theodore Daneri, the saloon and wine room keeper at Fourteenth and Pine streets, says that he has been robbed of about $1,200 in diamonds and several hundred dollars

Thursday was an anniversary of Theodore's entrance into the world. His parents made him a present of a cross containing eight diamonds. He wore this and in addition a large stud in the front of his shirt and diamond set of cuff buttons.
He wanted to have a little fun with the girls on his birthday, so he says he drew 800 from the bank. He first went to see his old friend, Emma Hall, who conducts an immoral house on South Thirteenth street, and while there got into a fight with Annie Harris.

MESKER BROS. SUE.

Ask Damages of the City for Cancellation of Their Contract.

The Mesker Bros., whose contract for ork on the new City Hall was recently canceled by Mayor Walbridge for an alleged violation of the strike clause, sued the city for $20,675 Friday.

To increase the Mayor's troubles, Herma Haeussler, August Gehner and others

A. Haeussler, August Gehner and others filed an injunction suit against the city and Cyrus P. Walbridge to restrain the Mayor from interference with the Mesker Bros. In the performance of their contract as long as they execute it in accordance with its terms.

Haeussler and Gehner sue as citizens and taxpayers, and associated with them as plaintiffs are Wm. N. Morrison, Wm. H. Stevenson, Sylvester J. Fisher, James B. Johnson and John O'Brien. They attack clause "T," which is in every city contract, and which was the cause of dispute between the Meskers and the Mayor. The plaintiffs allege that clause "T," by requiring the work to be done by union labor, reduces the number of contractors who can bid on public improvements.

The result is, they allege, a restriction of competition and an increased expense to taxpayers, they will lose by the extra cost of the work first let to the Meskers, and by the damage suit which the Meskers filed.

The Meskers had a contract for the heating and ventilating flues in the new City Hall. The men employed by a painting firm and other contractors working on the new City Hall struck, because the Meskers did not employ union labor. The Mayor then canceled the Meskers contract, after they had failed in an attempt to get an injunction.

sirest. Colbert formerly was a saloon keeper, but now resides at 3645 Olive street. Some time ago he owed Carr, who resides at Troy, Mo., $30. He had given his note for the amount. Carr was acquainted with Murphy, who formerly lived at Troy, and sent him the paper for collection.

Colbert paid the note on presentation, but Carr claims he sever got the money. Acting Prosecuting Attorney Reber refused to trust only.

"BUGS" AT THE EX.

Dr. Starkloff Will Send Fifty of His Insane Wards to the Big Show.

Dr. Starkloff, the Health Commiss Dr. Starkioff, the Health Commissioner, believes in curing the insane by kindness, and by diverting their minds from their grievances and mental troubles. In keeping with his general plan of furnishing all kinds of divertisements for his wards at the big asylum on Poverty Hill, he has bought fifty Exposition tickets, to be devoted to the sole use and benefit of lunatics from the asylum.

Several gentlemen in signing it declared that their rule was never to go on the bond of any one, but that the present case was one which every public-spirited citizen should seek to further.

The signatures to the bond represent over 33,000,000. Among them are those of D. D. Walker. President of the Ely-Walker Dry Goods Co.; Benjamin Eiseman of Rice, Stiz & Co.; R. M. Scruggs, President of Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney; Adam Boeck of the Adam Boeck Real Estate Co.; August Gehner of the August Gehner Title Abstract Co., and Judge J. E. McKeighan, lawyer.

The other pames are those of citizens of equal prominence. No trouble was experienced in making the bond. Several among the gentlemen came forward and requested the privilege of affixing their mames.

Those interested in the School Board reform movement accept the readiness of citizens to sign the bond as an indication that they and the Civic Federation will not lack support in their efforts.

Members of the School Board have all along insisted that the suft to prevent the Feck-Williamson job was the work of disgruntled contractors. Attorney I. C. Terry, representing the Board, claimed in open

NEGRO WOMEN FOOTPADS.

Two of Them Hold Up a Man on the Street and Rob Him.

Two negro women held up and robbed George E. Watkins of his week's pay in front of 1017 North Twelfth street Wednesday evening. Watkins is employed by a concrete paving concern, and Wednesday afternoon drew his wages. He put the bills between ing concern, and wednesday afternoon drew his wages. He put the bills between the leaves of a memorandum book and started home. On the way he met a crowd of negroes, who jostled him up close to the building. As he passed a dark entrance a burly wench suddenly stepped out and threw her arms around his neck and pinioned one arm. Watkins struggled to regain his freedom, and had about succeeded, when another negress came on the scene. The two proved too much for him.

They went through his pockets, anatched his book and ran. Watkins met a policeman and told him his story. The officer accompanied him to the scene of the roll bery, but no one was in sight.

On the pavement was Watkins' book, but it was all torn up. The officer spied it and asked Watkins if it were not his. When he said it was the officer replied: "You were not robbed. There is your property. Take it now and go home."

The policeman thought so little of the matter to that he made no report on it. Watkins, however, reported the matter to Chief Harrigan and now Capt. Joyce's men are looking for two colored female highway robbers.

The bullet whizzed by his ear.

Patrolmen Finn and Dunden ran to where the chooting fook place and attempted to arrest the gang. They caught Kenney, but his companions got away.

Kenney would not consent to a peaceable arrest. He wanted to fight and before he got through with it he had all he wanted. He had to be sent to the City Dispensary where a half dozen scalp wounds were repaired.

Then "Sankel" paired.

Then "Snake" was locked up at the Central Police Station and afterwards released on bond. He is charged with carrying concealed weapons, discharging firearms, disturbing the peace and resisting arrest.

EACH CLAIMS THE CREDIT.

Belleville Organizations Dispute About the Success of Their Fair.

Relations between the Belleville Com-mercial Club and the St. Clair County Fair mercial Club and the St. Clair County Fair Association are a trific strained because of the difficulty in dividing the credit for the success of the fair in a manner to meet the ideas of the members of both organizations. The members of the fair association claim it was chiefly due to their fine layout of live stock, poultry and vegetables and their speed contests, and the members of the Commercial Club think if it hadn't been for the fireworks, music and parades arranged by them not nearly so many people would have been drawn to town.

The outcome of it all will probably be the erection of an expesition building, and the establishment of a rival show. The buildings at the Fair Grounds are old and dilapidated, and ill adapted for making effective modern displays, and much complaint has been made about them, wishout avail.

The leading spirits in the Commercial avail.

The leading spirits in the Commercial Club declare that unless some modern buildings are erected by next year, the club itself, or a stock company, will build the Exposition building.

COOKE IS COMING HOME.

His Pretty Blue-Eyed Wife Will Re-ceive Him Coldly.

When Geo. Cooke comes home from Denver he will find the temperature around Cooke's Hetel reduced to a very low point. The little woman with the mild, blue eyes who has been left to worry over the affairs of the hostelry, is not even going across the street to meet him when he comes in from Myrs. Cooke was asked about her truant husband.

"He went to Denver," she said. "He was probably about half under when he was probably knew that he was a little bit off, so he took the porter along to look after him. He is all right now, I guess, and this will be a good lesson for him and will make him more careful.

"I suspect he will be home before Sunday, but no matter when he comes I am not going to meet him. I shall sit right here in the office and wait for him."

The sum and substance of Mr. Cooke's disappearance seems to be that he had a disappearance seems to be that he was considered to go West with them. The jag and the money giving out, he started to return home.

IMPOSING ON THE PUBLIC.

Manchester Road Division of the Sub- | Dec .. | 60%@61 a urban Giving Poor Service.

Citizens whose homes are beyond Benton, along the route of the Manchester road division of the Suburban Railway, are indignant at the management of the line.

For several weeks their anger has been restrict heaven. For several weeks their anger has been rising because the leaving time of the last Webster car has been changed from 12:20 a. m. to midnight and finally to 11:40 p. m., without previous notice.

As a result many residents of Webster had to be satisfied with a car to Benton, whence they trudged three miles to their homes.

Dissatisfaction reached a climax Thursday night when a carload of ladies and children, who wanted to go to Webster, got on a Webster car, when the Exposition closed. closed.

At Benton the passengers were ordered out and the car was sent back to the Six-Mile House to await the adjournment of a political meeting. The ladies and children had to wait half an hour for a car.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Wheat started strong this moraing. Dec. opened &c higher at 611/60013/c. There was a disposition to sell manifested by traders who expected a reaction after yesterday's advance. They received some encouragement from moderately heavy Northwest secipts and their sales depressed the price to 60%/60%/c. But cables came higher and heavy gold shagagements for import were reported. The feature of the cables was the marked strength displayed by Berlin, and this was greatly responsible for the covering which set in, and which sent Dec. up to 618/61%-6. Corn. was helped by moderate local receipia, wet greather and the strength of wheat. May opened a shade better at 24% and stranged to 25c. Oats participated in the early strength, though to a lesser degree. May opened a shade higher at 19%c, advancing to 10%c. Provisions were on the rampage. Traders were sneoderaged by a stronger livestock market, and the up-trend of grain and covering ensued. Jan pork spened 5c. higher at 88,77½ and advanced under heavy buying to $1,02%. Jan. lard opened unchanged at 3,72%c and advanced to 3,85c. Jan., ribs opened unchanged at 3,72%c and advanced to 3,85c. Jan., ribs opened and grain and covering ensued. ಎಲಾ A TALE OF THE DARK AGES.

BY U. V.

Three hundred years ago there lived Augsburg a lad named Willibald, apsilice to a smith, whose industry oblined him the regard of his master, hile his good nature caused him to be favorite with all who knew him. His later so highly estimated his skill that set re so highly estimated his skill that make him his partner, and hinted that was not displeased at the young man's endship with his daughter.

Total ong while Willibald sought some pretense to visit their dwelling, but fortune at length favored him. One day, when the snow made the ground so slippery as to be Martha, a respectable widow, with a dangerous to an infirm person, he saw Dame Willibald, though favored by the young BY U. V.

dangerous to an infirm person, he saw Dame Martha coming out of the church alone. Ho hastened to offer the assistance of his arm, and conducted her home. She invited him to enter, for she thought that only a very worthy young man would be so attentive to an aged dame.

Who was now happier than Willibald? From this day he was one of Dame Martha's most frequent visitors, and was almost the conductable of the co ways received with a welcome. In process of time he made bold to lay open his heart to the old woman, and ask permission to make love to her granddaughter. "My dear young friend," was her reply. "I have the highest esteem for you, and could wish Ellen no better husband. I believe she loves you, too; but you have not yet sufficient for the support of a wife. Save from your wages a decent sum, say thirty gold pleese, for a beginning, then come and receive your bride with my blessing."

Willihald was almost beside himself with the continuous of the support of a wife. Save from your bride with my blessing."

Willihald was almost beside himself with the young the had now an object for labor and frugality, and he redoubled his industry, laying by carefully all he made.

About this time Dame Martha became indisposed with a bad cough, and her physician prescribed change of air, so she took a little cottage in the suburbs, about an hour's walk from the city.

One day, as Willibald approached the house, Ellen came to meet him, weeping. She sobbed bitterly as he drew near, and "You know it, then?" cried he, with faltering voice.

"What—no—what?" asked nilen quickly and eagerly.

"That I have been robbed of my box of tone of

"Alas!" replied Eilen, "then misfortunes never come singly! Yesterday a rich gentleman came to our cottage and demanded my hand in marriage. His name is Werner; he is a rich merchant from Ulm. Even now he is sitting in the roem yonder with my grandma, drinking wine, and telling her of his houses and lands, while his servant, who stands by the chimney, confirms everything he says. But be comforted, dear willibald; my grandma may say what ahe will, I will die rather than be faithless to you!"

you choose to break an honest fellow's heart—and your own word also—'tis all the same to you!"

And he hastened madly away.

Some hours must have passed unmarked in the indugence of his grief, for it was late when he rose, and tried to find his way homeward. After wandering about some time, without being able to discover the road, he found that he was in a cover the road, he found that he was in a cover the road, he found that he was in a cover the road, he found that he was in a cover the road, he found that he was in a cover the road, he found that he was in a cover the road, he found that he was in a cover the road, he found that he was in a cover the road, he found that he was in a cover the road, he found that he was in a cover the road, he found that he was in a cover the road, he found that he was in a cover the road, he found that he was in a cover the road, he found that he was in a cover the road, he found that he was in a cover the road, he found that he was in a cover the road, he found the your bad fire road, he found that he was in a cover the road, he found that he was in a cover the road, he found that he was in a cover the road, he found the year would be mine!"

What is that?" Willibaid mustered courty age to say, though he trembled all over. "Thave a plece of work for you. I will take your to a spot where lies buried one of my subjects. You must make me an iron railing round this grave; and, in reward. I will give you your bride."

"If you have nothing more to ask, I am content," replied the young man.

"If you have nothing more to ask, I am content," replied the young man.

"If you have nothing more to ask, I am content," replied the young man.

"This is all; but it is a harder task than you imagine. You have but one hour to work. At twelve you must begin, and the railing must be completed by the time the clock strikes one. If it is done, you are free, if not, you belong to me forever."

Dr. Holland is called aspiration. It is a product of latter day surgical wisdom and is often resorted to.

Few men have had as long a struggle with grippe and pneumonia as Dr. Holland and now that he is on the high road to recovery his friends are marveling at his recuperative powers.

Dr. Holland was stricken down with grippe and pneumonia last April and until the end of May his life hung in the balance. The disease that had carried off many men more robust, was, supposed to have a deadly hold on the rector of St. George's. But he threw off the fatal yoke and revived sufficiently in June to go to Lake Minnetonika.

and they satisfied themselves that it was such.

The physicians treated the patient's right side so as to produce a state of local ansesthesia over the pleural cavity. A hollow needle, connected with a vacuum pump, was then run through the pain-deadened fiesh to the pleural cavity. The pump was started and a quart and a half of serum flowed out. Dr. P. Gervais Robinson said that the operation was very successful. He looks for Dr. Holland's speedy recovery. Dr. Robinson ascribed the accumulation of serum to the inflammation of the pleural membrane, caused by pneumonia.

Chicken was Mrs. Sarah Rorer's theme She entertained a large number of ladies and incidentally took occasion to make some pertinent remarks on the quality of the poultry on which she operated.

Holding up a chicken so that all could She entertained a large number of ladies

"It is a shame that our Boards of Health, which spend so much money and do so little work, do not prevent the improper killing and treatment of poultry for the market. Now here is a chicken that is scarcely fit to go on a civilized table. As long as the Boards of Health permit the practice dealers will continue to dip their chickens in fifthy water for the purpose of "cleaning" them. The water is often impregnated with injurious chemicals to facilitate the cleaning."

The distinguished lecturer's recipes Thursday were:
Bolled chicken—Draw, singe and truss the chicken. Put it into a kettle of boiling unsalted water, boil rapidly five minutes, then draw on the back part of the fire where it cannot possibly boil for one and a half boura, if the chicken is one year old. Dish and serve with rice and oyster sauce. Oyster sauce-Wash one pint of oysters. Put them over the fire and watch carefully until they boil. Strain again, this time saving the liquor. Put one tablespoonful of butter and one of flour in a saucepan to melt, add sufficient milk to the oyster liquor to make a half pint, add this to the butter, stir until boiling, add the oysters, a tablespoonful of sait, a quarter teaspoonful of white pepper, and it is ready for use.

Panned chicken—Draw, singe and cut up a chicken as for stewing. Put the pieces neatly in a baking pan, add one tablespoonful of butter, one cup (half pint) of hot water and cook in the oven one hour. When the chicken is half done sprinkle over a teaspoonful of salt and a quarter of pepper. Baste the chicken while cooking every ten minutes. Dish the chicken, put two tablespoonfuls of butter in a frying pan to brown, add two tablespoonfuls of flour, and brown again. Now add a pint of stock to the pan in which the chicken was cooked and then strain it into the butter and flour, sitr until boiling. Season and take from fire, add thalf teaspoonful of kitchen bouquet, the yolk of an egg and strain it over the chicken. Dust with chopped parsley and serve with a border of rice—or fried hominy.

Mrs. Duckworth should have claimed that she had anything to do with Nettie's disappearance.

"She has tried to lay the blame on Katie, and Katie had nothing to do with it," said Mrs. Smith. "Nettie told my daughter Monday that Mrs. Duckworth had got mad at her that morning about something. When she went to school Mrs. Duckworth told her not to come back any more; that she would have to hunt another home.

"I don't know what the trouble was," continued Mrs. Smith, "but I have heard that Mrs. Duckworth has a bad temper and is pretty severe with Nettle at times. Monday Nettle told my daughter she did not intend to live any longer with Mrs. Duckworth. The Told the Truth, Even Though It Lost Him an Order.

One of the best known police sergeants of St. Louis has patronized a certain shoemaker for several years, usually paying him 30 or 39 for making a pair of shoes Yesterday the sergeant told the venerable cobbler that he wanted a pair of patent leather shoes, and learned that they would cost $8. "But." he protested, "I see them in Harris" window for $25%, and thought you ought to be willing to make them to order for about $5." "The shoes you saw," said the shoemaker, "were drummers' samples, and it costs the factory $2.76 to make such a pair. But Harris can't fit everybody out of a sample stock. If he has your size, you had better buy them; if he hasn't got your size, come back to me and I'll make you a pair for 30 out of the same materials."

The sergeant found his exact size at Harris', and now nobody can convince him that there are not honest sheemakers and bargain-giving shoe dealers.

The blaze was discovered by Abe Iralson one of the elevator boys. He dropped his car to the ground floor in a hurry and reported it at the desk. Chief Clerk Chidsey touched a button communicating with the Fire Department and in two minutes the streets were crowded with engines, for firemen take no chances with hotel alarms.

Three minutes after the firemen arrived the blaze was out. Lines of hose were run upstairs to the top story. Then through the skylight amd up the shaft to where the flames were devouring the woodwork from which the elevators are suspended. Everything was drenched.

Most of the damage was done by water. The elevators were disabled, but they can be repaired at small cost. All told the loss does not exceed $1,000.

The fire is thought to have originated from electric wires which run along the top of the shaft.

of any kind without consulting Uncle Filley, is following the usual Republican plan of making extravagant claims, but refusing detailed information regarding the poll. Chairman Theo. Kalbfell has estimated the Republican majority in the city all the way from 10,000 to 25,000, but since the Bryan demonstration fast Saturday he has not said a word.

Neither has Tom Niedringhaus, who has also been indulging in liberal estimates. The immense demonstration fairly paralyzed the calculations of the Filley mathematicians, and they are now at work preparing to register every man shown by the block canvass to be in favor of the single gold standard. They are also anxious to get every silver Republican on the rolls to get his vote for Lewis, the Filley Legislative candidate and the city ticket.

The City Central Committee would rather see Lewis Governor and Filley United States Senator than McKinley elected President. It is likewise very anxious to see the City City Convention, sweep the city.

As a result of its canvass every Republican has received a card telling him the days set apart for registration, and urging upon him the necessity of remembering the dates. They are figuring on immense gains in the Republican strongholds in North and South St. Louis, and in the West End Democratic wards, where the Boltocrats have their mansions. When they were figuring on holding their own, and galning thousands of Wall street Democrats to swallow their ticket, head and all.

Chairman Hugh J. Brady does not, by any means, concede the city to the Republicans. To a Post-Dispatch reporter he said: "Everything depends on the registration. If we can get all our voters registered it with not surprise me to see the city to Democratic from five to seven thousand. While the Gold Democrate with the seven thousand.

There is no doubt that we will make very heavy gains. The men who labor are with us, heart and soul in this fight, and the returns will prove what I am saying. They want a change in the money policy of the country, because they are tired of seeing the millionaire class get everything worth having. Gov. William O. Bradley of Kentucky ad

Gov. Bradley was given an ovation when he stepped upon the stage, accompanied by Messrs. Filley, Ziegenhein, Joy and Bartholdt. Mr. Filley introduced Gov. Bradley in a characteristic manner.

Gov. Bradley began with a reference to the victory of the Republicans in Kentucky and he expressed the hope that Missouri would be "redeemed" within the next sixty days.

He reviewed Mr. Cleveland's administration and based on it argument against further Democratic rule. He devoted much of his speech to the discussion of the money question, which he answered as a gold standard man to his own satisfaction.

He drew the usual Republican picture of what will happen if Mr. Bryan is elected. Congressmen Joy and Bartholdt made addresses before the meeting adjourned.

The sight of the dead kitten gave Mrs. Altavogt an idea, which she quickly acted upon. She put the feline corpse into the pot and offered the stew to her husband for dinner.

Neighbors who had grown weary of Mrs. Altavogt's habit of screaming at all hours, and of raising a general disturbance, notified the police Thursday.

Mrs. Altavogt was placed in the asylum last March and she recovered in a few months. For several weeks past she has shown fresh signs of mental weakness. After a period of observation at the City Hospital, she will be taken to the Insane Asylum.
